

TINTSWALO BOULDERS

SWIM WITH THE PENGUINS

Tintswalo at Boulders overlooks Boulders Beach and its famous penguin colony that is located within the Table Mountain National Park Marine Protected area. The soft sandy beaches are clean and safe and are surrounded by granite boulders sheltering it from strong winds and the wild waves of the Indian Ocean. The villa boasts 180-degree ocean vistas from where guests can enjoy uninterrupted views of the playful African penguins on the beach below. Spreading over three levels, each of the nine luxurious suites have generous en-suite bathrooms and some have private balconies. Named after famous ships, suites are individually decorated to pay homage to maritime history and the location of the villa outside the naval village of Simon's Town. These range from the Mayflower and the Cutty Sark, to Jan van Riebeeck's Drommedaris. The Boutique Villa operates on a bed and breakfast basis with lunch and dinner served on request, but can also be booked as a private, exclusive-use takeover. Children of all ages are welcome at Tintswalo Boulders. Early risers may enjoy the spectacular sunrise over the Indian Ocean, followed by a delicious Tintswalo signature breakfast, then relax at the pool overlooking the sea or take a stroll down the boardwalk to the beach. En-route to Cape Point, which is less than 20 minutes away, it's the perfect base from where to explore the Cape Peninsula and its many attractions.
